

Types Of Notes & Rests 1

There are just 2 parts to reading music: knowing what to play and knowing how to play it. This lesson shows you the important secret of knowing how long each note is supposed to be.

Types Of Notes & Rests 2

If you're ready to create and read some complex rhythms, this lesson is for you. We'll cover eighth notes, sixteenths and dotted notes.

Using Time Signatures 1

The whole groove of the entire song is determined by two little numbers at the beginning of the song. Find out how the numbers work so you can instantly know the song's groove.

Creating a Learning Plan

What kind of learner are you? What do you want to learn? Learn which questions you need to ask before you start your musical journey

Notes On The Staff

Reading and writing music is just as important to your musical life as reading and writing your language is to your educational life. Watch this and find out how the staff works

Key Signatures 1

Before you even play your first note, you'll have to know what the key signature is telling you about the song or you'll mess the whole thing up! I'll show you how.

Letters In Music 1

There are really only 7 different notes on the piano. Learn where they are and how to simplify all the keys on the piano.

White Notes & Black Notes

Find out why some of the notes are black and some are white. Learn their names and why they're set up the way they are

Practice Habits

Almost nobody likes to practice! So find out how to make the most of your practice time, get good as fast as possible, and avoid torturing yourself for no reason.

Keys And Finger Trails

Even though there are 88 keys on the piano, any particular song just uses a set of 7...and there are only 12 ways to make those sets of 7. I'll show those sets are and how to use them.

Adult Piano Brain

In my decades of teaching, I've found significant differences between kid students and adult students. Find out what unique struggles you're going to face and learn how to combat them.

Metronome

The metronome is the most common tool for any instrument. Learn why this piece of equipment is so hated, how it works and how it can revolutionize your playing.

Playing Level 1

Learn how to follow along with any of the songs in Level 1 from KidsLearnPianoLive.com

Playing Level 2

Learn how to follow along with any of the songs in Level 2 from KidsLearnPianoLive.com

Playing Level 3

Learn how to follow along with any of the songs in Level 3 from KidsLearnPianoLive.com

Playing Level 4

Learn how to follow along with any of the songs in Level 4 from KidsLearnPianoLive.com

Playing Level 5

Learn how to follow along with any of the songs in Level 5 from KidsLearnPianoLive.com

Finding a Teacher

Finding a great music mentor can be very difficult! Learn how to find the right teacher for you.

Letters In Music 1

There are really only 7 different notes on the piano. Learn where they are and how to simplify all the keys on the piano

White Notes & Black Notes

Find out why some of the notes are black and some are white. Learn their names and why they're set up the way they are

Practice Habits

Almost nobody likes to practice! So find out how to make the most of your practice time, get good as fast as possible, and avoid torturing yourself for no reason.